TALK OF THE TOWN

Special Saturday, gloves and neckwear, at Vaughan's.

Vanilla and caramel ice cream at Cummings & Lewis.

Attend the auction sale at corner of Cliff street and Maple Grove street, June 5, at 1:30. See advertisement.

Fast college baseball: Barre A. C. vs. All-Collegians of Dartmouth, at the Granite City driving park Saturday, 3 p. m. The teams will appear for the first time on one of the fastest diamonds in Vermont.—Adv.

WATERBURY.

Commencement exercises begin tomorrow, when a union service will be preached in the Methodist church to-morrow evening, at which the baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev. W. L. Boicourt, whose subject will be "Life in the Making." In the morning, services will be held in each of the churches as usual.

Mrs. W. L. Boicourt and daughter, Miss Jane Boicourt, left this noon for a visit with Mrs. Boicourt's mother in Concord, N. H.

The ladies' aid of the Methodist church holds a food sale this afternoon in the vacant store in the opera house block.

GRANITEVILLE.

Presbyterian Church Notes.—Rev. James Ramage of East Barre will preach at the church to-morrow, in exchange with the pastor, Rev. Fred MacNeil. The woman's missionary society held a very interesting meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. William Matheson of Westerville. Interesting sketches of the work of the missionaries in various fields were read.—The men's club is planning a concert, to be given June 25 in Miles' hall.

EAST BARRE.

The Willow Dale Dramatic club gave their play last evening to a full house. Every part was well and aptly taken. It is hard to make any choice of talent for each one fits his place. Every one was well pleased and bespeaks for all who attend this play an evening of complete enjoyment. This play will be given in Plainfield, Saturday evening, June 5.

ORANGE.

The memorial services at the Congregational church Sunday will be held at 11 o'clock, instead of 10 o'clock, as announced in Thursday's Times. A special address will be given in honor of the day, to which all are invited.

Corporal F. D. Donald, who has been visiting Alexander Hall of Ayers street and with relatives in Groton, has gone to Newport News, Va., where he will join the ship, the U. S. S. Vermont, after a furlough of 30 days.

The auction sale at Farnham's at Montpelier yesterday was fairly well attended; not so large a crowd or as much property as at some former sales; 20 horses and some other property was disposed of. C. F. Smith, auctioneer.

Charles Spear of Park street and Mrs. Joseph Sutor of Graniteville left last night for Boston, where they will attend an adjourned meeting of the N. E. O. P. Mrs. Sutor is going in the place of H. W. Scott, who was unable to attend.

Last evening at the home of Edward Loranger on Summer street, a number of his friends gathered in order to help him celebrate his birthday anniversary. Songs were sung, cards were played and all enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Light refreshments were served.

Miss Inez Waterman of Orleans arrived in the city last evening to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Waterman of Washington street. Miss Waterman will attend the commencement week exercises at Goddard seminary, from which institution she was graduated in 1912.

Miss Elizabeth Evans, a delegate to the women's peace conference, recently held at The Hague, will speak at the Congregational church to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. Here is an opportunity to get a report of this unique meeting at first hand and all will be welcome.

Mrs. Edward Ruffo, who has been with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ewen McKenzie, since the departure of her husband, has joined him in Plymouth, Mass., where he has secured a position in the Old Colony clothing store. Mr. Ruffo was employed for several years in the Lamorey Clothing store here.

Harold Nute, a former Barre boy, who has been building a reputation as a state smasher on New Hampshire alleys, qualified this week for the finals that are to determine the Granite state champion ship. With three other Manchester and Nashua bowlers, Nute won his three competitors in four string totals.

Dean Lee S. McCollister of the Tufts school of divinity, Medford, Mass., who is to deliver the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of Goddard seminary at the Universalist church Sunday forenoon, will arrive in the city late today. Dean McCollister will be entertained by Principal O. K. Hillister and Mrs. Hillister at their home on Merchant street. Another prominent educator, of Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., who is to speak in the Hedding Methodist church to-morrow evening, will be the guest of Rev. E. F. Newell of French street over the week end.

L. Sassi, who has been engaged in the work of setting the Wendell Phillips monument in the public gardens at Boston, has returned to his home in Barre. Possibly no memorial erected in recent years has attracted more attention than the Phillips monument. Located in one of the most attractive sections of the Hub, its striking appearance has been the subject of much comment. A Barre concern, the Presbrey-Coykendall Co., cut the bases and die of Stony Creek, Conn. granite, the work consuming several months before it was ready for shipment. The heroic figure of Wendell Phillips was done in bronze by Daniel Chester French. A public subscription of $25,000 made the memorial possible. Boston Scotch people are starting a fund for the erection of a monument to Robert Burns.

Barring the probable omission of a concert next week owing to the fact that commencement exercises at Goddard and Spaulding will be in full swing, weekly concerts will be given in city park until next September, according to tentative arrangements made by the managers of the Barre Citizens' band and a special land committee from the board of aldermen. The musicians made a good beginning on their schedule last Monday night and lovers of music in the open air are hoping that negotiations between the band and the aldermen will be concluded speedily. The aldermanic committee consists of E. C. Glysson, E. A. Bruce and O. D. Shurtliff. A contract between the two parties is to be executed before the summer series of concerts begins.

Superintendent Alexander Hanton of the city cemetery left the city today for Boston, where he will be joined by Mrs. Hanton, who has been passing a week with relatives in the Hub. Mr. and Mrs. Hanton will proceed at once to Providence, R. I., where the New England Association of Cemetery Superintendents is to be in session early in the week. The method which Western and Providence monument dealers and cemetery men have chosen to entertain the visitors is similar to the program followed when the superintendents came to Barre last summer. Trips to the Western and Eastern cemeteries are to be made after the annual business meeting of the association. Mr. and Mrs. Hanton expect to return to Barre late next week and during the former's absence, the cemetery will be in charge of F. T. Cullen, a member of the cemetery commission.

New line of children's hats at Fitts'. Public dance in Howland hall to-night. Carroll's six-piece orchestra.

During the summer months, the creamery will be open Sunday evenings from 5:30 to 8:30.

See advertisement of auction sale at corner of Cliff and Maple Grove streets Saturday, June 5, commencing at 1:30 p. m.

Mrs. Margaret Smith of 38 Liberty street, who has been visiting friends in St. Johnsbury for the past week, returned to her home yesterday.

Mr. Booth, Mr. Bugbee and Miss Spear of the Barre opera house orchestra went to Hyde Park yesterday, where they played for the graduating exercises of the Lamelle Central academy.

The insurance offices of N. B. Ballard, G. H. Pape, Paige & Campbell and J. W. Dillon will close Saturday afternoons during June, July, August and September.—Adv.

There will be a rehearsal of the children of the Presbyterian Sunday school this afternoon at 3:30. Parents are asked to see that their children attend every rehearsal.

Mrs. H. B. Brooks, Mrs. C. N. Benedict, Mrs. E. L. Smith and Miss Agnes Bradford returned from Richmond last evening, where they attended the Universalist district convention.

After a long suspension of activity Gasparrilla Bros' granite plant on West Second street will be reopened Monday morning. The partners have booked a nice bundle of orders and the outlook for a successful summer's business is considered promising. It is hoped that a large gang of cutters can be accommodated at the plant within a very short time.

St. John's court, No. 522, is planning to send a sizable delegation of its members to Swanton next week to attend the annual convention of Catholic Order of Foresters of Vermont. Business sessions and outings that are to take up most of the time Tuesday and Wednesday are to terminate in a big banquet Wednesday evening. John Papin, chief ranger of St. John's court, expects to lead the local delegation.

Following out the custom, the faculty of Goddard seminary to-night will give a class supper, followed by a reception and dance, in honor of the graduating class of the institution. At the supper there will be informal speech-making, and the affair will take the form of the last purely school gathering of the year. The events of next week being open to the graduates and most of them to the general public.

By autos and teams a score of Barre people representing Congregational and Baptist church societies returned late last evening from Marshfield, where they attended the 29th annual convention of the Washington County Union of Christian Endeavor. Among those who participated in the program were: Rev. Fred McNeil of Graniteville, E. M. Lewis, who was president of the county union, James Groomson and Miss Henrietta Delver. W. E. Baker of Morrisville delivered the address at the closing session.

The members of the choir of the Hedding church were entertained at supper last evening by the music committee, who are pleased to do this annually in appreciation of the work done by those who sing. The chairman of the music committee, Mrs. L. D. Martin, in well-chosen words expressed the pleasure all had taken in the efforts of the choir, under the efficient leadership of Miss Peter. About 30 people did ample justice to the bountiful supper, well spread, with jest and jollity, and a rousing cheer for the music committee closed the pleasant affair.

MONTPELIER

Lieut.-Gov. Hale K. Darling, who was appointed according to an act of 1915 to revise the statutes, will commence his duties next Monday and will be assisted by John Harvey. They will work in the supreme court room, according to the assignment made by Sergeant at Arms Frank T. Parsons.

The remains of Mrs. E. J. Fallon, whose funeral was held yesterday afternoon, were taken this morning on the 9:07 train over the Central Vermont railroad to Bristol, where burial will take place. The body was accompanied by Mr. Fallon and other relatives. The body of Frank H. Wisley, who died suddenly yesterday afternoon, was also taken to Waterbury on the same train.

Charles Black, attorney for the Central Vermont railroad, returned this morning to St. Albans, having been in the city to attend United States court. Various court officials returned on the morning trains to their respective homes.

The second band concert of the season by the Montpelier Military band was enjoyed last evening by the biggest crowd in several seasons, automobiles being lined along the curbs for nearly half a mile, while the State House lawn affording resting places for several hundred people.

A man was stationed at the head of State street this morning, whose duty it will be for 12 hours to count all the automobiles and teams which pass in any direction past the corner, the business section of the city. The work is being done at the request of Mayor Boutwell. The tallying was started at 7 o'clock, and during the first hour 40 automobiles and 70 teams passed by, while during the second 60 minutes 140 autos and 205 teams were counted. It is expected that before night some 5,000 vehicles will be registered.

It became known here yesterday that Mrs. Merrill Lord of the Northfield road had failed in two suicidal attempts, one made Tuesday night by throwing herself in the Dog river, back of the farm on which she resides, and one Thursday night by taking a large quantity of iodine. Mrs. Lord, who is the wife of a wealthy farmer, has been in ill health the past few weeks, and despondency is given as the cause of her acts. Physicians say she will recover.

The Steel Decision.

According to the decision of the United States district court filed at Trenton yesterday, the United States Steel corporation escapes dissolution under the Sherman anti-trust act. The court refuses to issue an injunction; it holds that the foreign trade of the steel corporation constitutes no violation of the Sherman law. The court does, however, declare unlawful certain price-fixing agreements that followed the Gary dinner, which stopped before the bill was filed, and the court allowed the government to retain jurisdiction of the bill, if these price-fixing practices should be renewed. It incidentally suggests that such matters may now be controlled by the new trade commission.

This is doubtless the most important anti-trust action ever brought by the department of justice. Its failure will go further to determine the American attitude towards "big business" than anything that has in a long time happened. The case is historic. It was brought in Trenton in October of 1911. From that time to this it has consumed the energies of a conspicuous array of legal talent. While the case will be appealed to the supreme court, this preliminary victory, like that obtained here by the United States Machinery company a few weeks ago, in proceedings not wholly dissimilar, will have far-reaching significance.

decisions a more reasonable attitude on the part of public authority. The pendulum is swinging back from the excesses of regulation to which the government, in response to undoubted tendencies of the recent past, has resorted. The courts have usually been pretty reasonable. But the misnamed "department of justice," in singling out business for attack, has gone much too far. A few such decisions as this, settling limits to anti-trust endeavors, will have a wholesome effect on our public prosecutors. For it must be evident to everybody that American efficiency would be seriously endangered by the continued dismembering of those business activities which are logically and often necessarily related.—Boston Herald.

The Mexican Situation.

If President Wilson's new attitude toward Mexican affairs is born of new light which he has received from representatives sent to that country, it is to be hoped that his latest purpose will prove more humanely efficacious than have those he has thus far instituted and tried out. The task before him is to undo what has been done since his first attempt at interference in Mexican affairs, which resulted in the banishment of Huerta and the starting on their way of the several bandit leaders who have brought about a condition of murder and devastation under the policy of watchful waiting. Perhaps the veiled or implied threat of interference in case the present warring factions do not get together on some common and more or less friendly basis, may secure by indirect effect what it has been unable to get by direct effort. Huerta, who is now living on Long Island, maintains that Mexicans will resent interference by the United States. If their resentment will cause them to pull together for the good and the independence of their common country, rather than for the spoils which their individual leaders now seem intent upon getting, the desired end will have been attained. But since there is a possibility that this nation may be called upon to secure by forceful means what it cannot get by peaceful methods, it would seem that our prudent course would be to stop sending arms and ammunition to the bandits who later may turn the guns against our own soldiers. Doubtless the fewer arms this nation permits to enter Mexico, the better it will be for all.—Boston Traveler.
